

Pantalion, Joe

From: Sarabia, Alanna C <asarabia@txstate.edu>
Sent: Saturday, October 12, 2024 3:35 PM
To: Pantalion, Joe
Subject: [EXTERNAL] Fw: Support for Jim Wimberly and the Texas Aviation Partners Team
Attachments: image001.jpg

Hello Mr. Pantalion?

This email was sent on Thursday, but I see it was sent to the wrong address.
Please accept my email in support to the Texas Aviation Partner team.

Alanna Sarabia

Get Outlook for iOS

From: Sarabia, Alanna C
Sent: Thursday, October 10, 2024 10:34:42 AM
To: jpantalion@sanmarcistx.gov <jpantalion@sanmarcistx.gov>
Subject: Support for Jim Wimberly and the Texas Aviation Partners Team

Dear Mr. Pantalion,

I hope this email finds you well. My name is Alanna Sarabia, Director of Corporate Engagement at Texas State University. I wanted to take a moment to express my sincere appreciation for Jim Wimberly and his outstanding team at Texas Aviation Partners. They have become a partner a university could only dream of having on their team. Their dedication and professionalism have been nothing short of exemplary, and their ongoing support has played a pivotal role in helping Texas State University expand its educational reach and strengthen its presence in the aerospace industry.

From the beginning, working with TAP has been an absolute pleasure. They have consistently demonstrated a willingness to collaborate, offering solutions that are both practical and forward-thinking. Their deep understanding of the complexities involved in aerospace education has made it remarkably easy for us to pursue our shared vision.

Most notably, Jim and his team have gone above and beyond to support Texas State's mission of putting our university and city, on the map as a leader in aerospace education. By providing resources and access to the airport's facilities, they have empowered our students with hands-on experiences that are critical to their success. These efforts not only enhance our students' learning but also bring national visibility to Texas State, showcasing the university's commitment to innovation and growth in the aerospace field.

The TAP team has truly been a vital partner in this endeavor, and we are grateful for their support and contribution to the long-term vision of expanding our educational footprint. I look forward to continuing this fruitful partnership and to the many more milestones we will achieve together.

Warm regards,
Alanna Sarabia

Alanna Sarabia

Director of Corporate Engagement

University Advancement

Texas State University

C: 210.848.7086

ua.txstate.edu/nextisnow

CAUTION: This email is from an EXTERNAL source. Links or attachments may be dangerous. Click the Report Phishing button above if you think this email is malicious .