Background Information:

Below is a timeline indicating the history of the development:

- September 17, 2019: City Council authorized negotiations and appointed the Workforce Housing Committee to negotiate with the developer and staff.
- October 25, 2019, January 13, 2020, January 27, 2020, May 27, 2020: City Council Committee meeting dates
- March 2019, the development filed to opt-out of the City's proposed wastewater CCN expansion and instead applied for its own wastewater permit with the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality
- March 2021, the State Office of Administrative Hearings confirmed the City as an "affected person" and granted a hearing to contest the wastewater permit
- May 2021, the City approached the developer to begin negotiations anew, delaying the SOAH hearings while negotiations were underway

The following list highlights the terms of the agreement:

- Developer will drop the wastewater discharge permit request and use City wastewater services; the developer will not, therefore, discharge into the river
- Developer will provide for physical protection of riverbank within its property boundaries, with the ability to perform maintenance and de minimis improvements within areas near the river; developer will be allowed to establish a 50 foot wide access easement for pedestrian traffic with materials other than concrete or asphalt; the developer agrees not to modify the existing topography of the River edge.
- Developer will convey 15 acres to be used by the City for future regional wastewater treatment facilities
- The City will annex all commercial and industrial properties immediately, and it may annex all residential at a future date
- The developer and ensuing homeowner's association will be responsible for drainage and detention
- Until annexed, residential customers will pay Out of City multiplier for Utility services
- The City agrees that no permits are needed for construction of public improvements
- The City waives the 505 minimum parkland dedication and the HOA will maintain private parks
- The City agrees to several other Land Development Code variances

Council Committee, Board/Commission Action:
